

Contents

Illustrations	vii
Contributors	ix
Acknowledgements	xiii
Foreword
Thomas V. Cohen and Elizabeth S. Cohen	1
Introduction
Richard Raiswell	9
Knowledge for Sale
1. The Problem of Fraud in Early Modern Alchemy
Tara E. Nummedal	37
2. 'He is indeed a kind of Scholler-Mountebank': Academic Liars in Jacobean Satire
Sarah Knight	59
3. Good Information, Bad Information and Misinformation in Fifteenth-Century Italian Diplomacy
Paul M. Dover	81
Reputation and Honour
4. 'Tis policy and stratagem must do': Rape, Deception, and Vendetta in The Most Lamentable Tragedy of Titus Andronicus
Michael Cichon	105
5. Whence Springs the Lie? Motive and Fraud in the Manosquin Criminal Court (1340–1403)
Steven Bednarski	123
6. Mock and Clandestine Marriages, Deceits, and Games in Jewish Italian Communities in the Early Modern Period
Roni Weinstein	145

Government of Women

7. The Weamen of Middlesex: Faux Female Voices in the English Revolution
Georgia Wilder 163
8. Widowhood and Deception: Ambiguities of Queenship in Late Medieval Crown of Aragon
Núria Silleras-Fernández 185

An Idle Press

9. Side-Stepping the Censor: The Clandestine Trade in Prohibited Texts in Early Modern Augsburg
Allyson F. Creasman 211
10. Rogues, Counterfeiters, and Forgers: Surreptitious Printing in the Popular Literature of Renaissance England
Michael Long 239

Inventing the Past

11. Sex, Lies, and Manuscript: On the ‘Castration’ of the Lindau Archives
Johannes C. Wolfart 271
12. The Deceived as Deceiver: False Testimony in the Case of Robert of Artois
Dana L. Sample 287
13. The Myth of Mother Shipton: Prophet-Making and Profit-Taking
David A. Wilson 309

- Index 325